GERMAN ANSWER TO FALSE TALES

War Office Cites Brilliant Offensive in Russian Poland and Fall of
Two Forts at Antwerp.

AND OFFENSIVE IN FRANCE

Declared Germans Have Captured 30
Aeroplanes Sent by France
Into Belgium.

(By United Press.)

Berlin, (By Wireless) Oct. 2.—In an official statement issued from the war office at noon today it is pointed out that the brilliant offensive operations in Russian Poland, the siege of Antwerp where two forts have already fallen before the Germans, and the brilliant offensive in northern France are sufficient answers to the stories that the Germans are lacking men to fight.

It is stated that in Belgium the Germans have captured thirty aeroplanes sent there by France. The battle of the Aisne, while still undecided, shows favorable gains for the Germans, it is claimed.

The war office in its announcement today stated that the troops operating against the German right wing were attempting a general flanking movement but that the steps had been taken to prevent their success. It was stated that the fighting on the line west of the Oise and North of Noyon, and along the line of the Somme, continues with the utmost severity but that at no point in that region have the allies been able to carry any of the German positions. Especially severe fighting is reported in the territory north of the Somme, where the enemy, heavily reinforced has made repeated efforts to break through the German line and outflank the German positions.

The French armies operating with Toul and Nancy as bases continue their efforts to break down the German left. They have taken a number of positions by the sacrifice of thousands of men, only to be almost immediately driven out by the Germans in counter assaults. This has been especially so in the fighting in the neighborhood of St. Mihiel where the Germans who crossed the Meuse retired and then, when the French had re-occupied their old positions shelled them from all sides killing hundreds and driving the remainder back in confusion that at times resembled a rout.

On the centre the artillery duel continues with the Germans holding their strongly entrenched positions at nearly every point. It is stated that a number of unimportant positions have been abandoned to the French rather than uselessly to sacrifice lives in holding them. In general it is stated that the situation continues satisfactory to the general staff and the outlook for ultimate victory is very bright.

In the operations against Antwerp it is stated that two of the outlying force have been silenced. The assertion is made that an attempted sortie by the Belgians was checked with every heavy loss to the enemy.

Vienna, (By Wireless) Oct. 2.—Advices from Vienna declare that the Austrian resistance continues undiminished and the Russians have made no appreciable advance. In the fighting in Russian Poland the advantage continues with the Germans.

RESERVES RIGHT TO STOP CABLES

Italy Serves Notice to That Effect.
Intimating She Will Take Hand
in Censorship.

PRESAGES ENTRY INTO WAR

(By United Press.)

New York, Oct. 2.—An indication that Italy plans to take an active hand in the news censorship and possibly an intimation that her expected participation in the European war will not much longer be delayed, is contained in an official notice sent out by the cable companies today. In this notice the following announcement is made:

"The Italian administration referring to the articles of the International convention which empower a state under certain circumstances to stop the transmission of telegrams, gives notice that it reserves the right to stop any cablegrams without notice and that no claims on account of such stoppages will be considered."

GERMANS ARE NOW PARTLY FLANKED

French War Office Contradicts Berlin
Statement Regarding Developments Along Meuse.

PONTOON BRIDGES BLOWN UP

(By United Press.)

Paris, Oct. 2.—With both the German right and the allied left heavily reinforced, the battle on the north-west lines has now eclipsed the fighting at every other point of the long battle line.

The Germans are already partly flanked and their lines of communication are threatened. They are declared to be fighting with the desperation of despair to turn the tide in their favor. They are assaulting the allied positions with the utmost vigor but slowly the iron ring is being extended around them.

The official statement issued at three o'clock directly contradicts the German official statement regarding developments along the Meuse. The French state that the Germans tried to lay pontoon bridges across the river near St. Mihiel only to have them blown to pieces by the French three-inch guns.

GERMANS IN FULL RETREAT

Petrograd War Office Declares Enemy Has Been Driven From Suwalki, Russian Poland.

GERMAN CENTRE IS BROKEN

Russian Cavalry Cuts Invaders Lines of Communication at Several Points, it is Declared.

(By United Press.)

Petrograd, Oct. 2.—That the Germans are in full retreat in the province of Suwalki, Russian Poland, was the announcement of the war office today. It is stated that the German centre was broken when the attack on Ossowitz failed and that the combined Russian assault which followed greatly demoralized the Germans.

Particularly violent fighting is reported in progress today in the region west of Simno. The main body of the German army is now stated to be concentrated in the western districts of Petrokow and Kielce where it is reported to be strongly entrenched.

The Russian cavalry has cut the German lines of communication at several points and have surrounded and captured many prisoners. From these it has been definitely determined that the troops opposing the Russians at the present time are the veterans of the earlier campaigns in France. They have been withdrawn and rushed to the east in an effort on the part of the Germans to check the westward movement of the great Russian war machine, now entering the first stages of its efficiency.

The main body of the Russian army operating in Galicia against the combined German-Austrian forces crossed the Nida river in Poland and Donajec river in Galicia immediately after the capture of Tarnow last Wednesday. These forces are now reported as attacking the line of entrenchments erected by the Austro-German armies along the Nabo river with Bochnia as the centre. These form the advanced line of the defense of Cracow.

All information indicates that the battle here will be the first serious resistance yet encountered by the Russians in Galicia. The Germans have concentrated for the defense of Cracow the pick of their Bavarian troops. It is suggested here that in the line will be found the Bavarian army which was responsible for much of the success of the early German movement in France. German naturally realizes that if Cracow falls the road way will be open towards Breslau and will make every effort to hold the present line.

The Russian army now advancing on Cracow is made up of the best troops in the empire.

TWO ARMIES APPROACHING

Villa's and Carranza's Troops Ready to Clash Near Naco.

(By United Press.)

Naco, Arizona, Oct. 2.—At noon today 2,000 Mexican Villista troops under the governor of Sonora were within five miles of Naco. Senora, Carranza's forces have left Naco to meet the enemy. American border patrols lined the border to prevent violation of American neutrality. Hundreds of Americans with field glasses are seeking points of vantage from which to watch the expected fight.

ORGANIZED FOR CAMPAIGN HERE

Forces Favoring New Constitution
Will Begin Next Monday by Distributing Pamphlets.

AT REGISTRATION PLACES

For a Month Militant Campaign Will be Waged With Mass Meetings
Well Over County.
All Over County.

A well organized campaign to place before the people of Rush county the proposal to vote at the next election on whether Indiana shall hold a constitutional convention has been arranged and will be carried on here, beginning next Monday, until election day.

The organization has already been perfected. The Rev. H. D. Sterrett of Carthage has been elected president of the county committee and the Rev. A. D. Batchelor of this city is the secretary and treasurer.

The campaign will get under way next Monday, registration day, when pamphlets will be distributed at every registering place in Rush county to every voter who qualifies for the election which will be held Tuesday, November 3.

The Rev. C. M. Yocum has charge of the distribution of the pamphlets in the city and there will be a person appointed for each township to have similar duties. When each voter registering is handed a pamphlet, he will also be reminded that he will have the opportunity to vote on the question at the November election.

The militant campaign which is to be carried on in this direction will include mass meetings in every town, village and hamlet in Rush county before November 3. This part of the campaign will not be started until after registration day.

H. D. Sterrett, the president of the county organization, is experienced in organization work because he was once a candidate for office and knows some of the "ins and outs" of a campaign. He is a Republican in politics. In his younger days he was active in state politics and was also a member of the Indiana general assembly. He has thrown himself into the movement with his characteristic ardor. A. E. Miles, Anti-Saloon League worker in Indiana, was here a few days ago to perfect the county organization. The interest the League has in the campaign is to secure the insertion of a clause in the proposed constitution for statewide prohibition. The pamphlet to be distributed at the poles registration day will be on the subject, "Constitutional Convention—An Opportunity to Abolish the Saloons."

EVACUATION POSTPONED

Vera Cruz Troops Will Not be Withdrawn Before Oct. 11.

(By United Press.)

Washington, Oct. 2.—The war department today announced definite postponement of the evacuation of Vera Cruz until October 11 at the earliest. State department officials believe Carranza has no intention of stepping peacefully down for Villa and the port will not be turned over until some strong centralized government is established.

Earl Smalley, who has been quite ill with typhoid fever at the home of J. L. Hayes near Raleigh, was not so well today.

HARLEY FRAZIER HONORED

Named Secretary of 1915 Class of Cincinnati Law Office.

Harley Frazier, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Frazier, a senior at the Cincinnati Law College, was elected secretary of the 1915 class, according to a telegram received here this afternoon. The honor came to the local boy unsolicited and is all the more greater because of this. A three-cornered fight was being made for the office and Frazier was a neutral man being named because of this.

L.E. & W. SERVICE MAY BE DOUBLED

Likely That Two Trains Daily Will Be Run, According to Word Received Here.

RUSHVILLE TO BE TERMINAL

That this division of the Lake Erie and Western will soon make a change in schedule, is almost certain, but no official announcement has been received here by W. A. Woollen, the local agent. The superintendent of the road has conferred with train officials, and notified James Baldwin, of this city, who is conductor of the train, not to move his family from this city to Newcastle, as a change will soon be made. According to the superintendent, the train will make a double run, two passenger and two mixed trains, each day. Rushville will be the terminal of the line.

At present time the service is very poor, with only a train each way, and both of them in the morning. The way it is now the rural route men wait at Mays for the train to come north and the last few months, the mail service has been badly crippled, because on several occasions the train has not reached there until after four o'clock in the afternoon. The passenger service will be greatly helped if the change is made, and will benefit local merchants.

PEACE DAY IS TO BE OBSERVED HERE

James E. Watson Will Deliver The Address at Union Meeting of Churches Sunday Evening.

TO BE HELD AT ST. PAUL'S M. E.

The Protestant churches of the city will join in a union service Sunday night at the St. Paul's M. E. church to observe the day for prayer for peace in Europe. The observance is in accordance with President Woodrow Wilson's recent proclamation setting aside Sunday, October 4, as a day of prayer for cessation of war in Europe.

James E. Watson has consented to make the address Sunday evening. It will be the first time that Mr. Watson has spoken here since the last political campaign.

Some of the ministers had planned to preach a special sermon on peace Sunday night, following out the suggestion of the president. This morning arrangements were made for the union meeting. The day will be celebrated generally throughout the United States.

PREVENTION IS SCHOOL TOPIC

Rushville Children Today Hear About
Methods to Make Less Probable
Ravages of Disease

QUESTIONS ARE PERSONAL

Genivieve Brown Talks to High School of Trip Abroad—Fire
Prevention Day Next Friday

Disease Prevention day was observed in the Rushville public schools today. Attention to the pupils as individuals was brought by personal questions bearing on their life that brought out the idea intended to be conveyed by the general celebration of the day in Indiana.

Miss Genivieve Brown, one of the high school instructors, who returned shortly before the opening of school from a trip abroad, talked to the high school, drawing a comparison between conditions of sanitation in the United States and in Europe.

There will be another special observance in the schools here next Friday, a week from today. That day will be known as Fire Prevention day throughout the state. As in the observance today, plain direct questions will be put to the pupils for answer so that the topic will be taken home by them as could not be done by any other method. W. E. Longley the state fire marshal, is sending out a list of questions on fire prevention which will be used in the public schools of the state. They ask the pupil whether safety matches are used in their home, whether the chimneys at their homes are in good condition and other things relating to fire prevention.

In room 8A today the pupils were questioned about sanitary conditions in their home. They were asked whether they slept at night with their rooms well ventilated with fresh air.

The same idea was carried out in other grade rooms. The value of cleanliness in the care of the body as the best method of preventing disease was the main thing impressed on the minds of the pupils. This was done, for the most part, by asking them questions concerning their personal habits.

In some Indiana cities today the public schools had a big demonstration, with floats and caricatures expressing the sentiment of the day. This sort of thing entailed a heavy expense and made necessary the closing of the school. Because of the many special days ahead, including the cornerstone laying of the new building, which will cause some loss of school work, the school authorities thought it best to follow the plan already followed.

"COMMUNIQUE"

Each day we have eagerly scanned the all too brief "Communique" of the French war office. Their few words have been pregnant with meaning, telling portentous history in tabloid form.

Just as forceful and far more important to our individual lives are the "Communique" of Peace which appear each day in our advertising columns.

They are terse, pithy messages, but full of important news.

They tell of opportunity of expanding trade of production seeking demand.

They are directly interesting to every individual and every home.

NAVAL POLICY A WAITING ONE

Germany's Greatest Naval Critic Says England Knows Where Enemy's Ship are Located

WHAT SHE WANTS IS REDRESS

He Explains Why There Has Been
 No Naval Battle of Magnitude to Date in European War

BY KARL H. VON WIEGAND
 (U. P. Staff Correspondent.)
 Berlin, via The Hague, Oct. 2.—
 "The German naval policy is of necessity a waiting one. If England is dissatisfied she has her redress.
 She has the men and she has the ships. And she knows exactly where our fleet is."
 That was the declaration made to me today by Count Ernest Zu Reventlow, German's greatest naval critic who has just returned from a visit to the German naval base, in explaining for the benefit of the United Press why there has not been a naval battle of magnitude to date.

"It is not up to our fleet—about half the size of the English fleet—to attack and give battle on their own ground," continued the count.
 "The English fleet has shown no disposition to court battle. When our destroyers and submarines seek them
 we find them close to their own coast line."

"Ship for ship, our fleet is the equal of the British. I believe that, whatever may happen to our fleet, it will give an account of itself, that, when the battle is over, there will be grave doubt whether the British are still the greatest naval power in the world. And, I believe absolutely that the English themselves take such an outcome into consideration and have been waiting in the hope that we will attack them in their waters, where everything is in their favor. You know they sunk the Koenig Louise almost in the mouth of the Thames."

"How long do you think the war will last?" the count was asked.
 "God knows, I don't. The English say that it will be a long war and that their advantage will increase with its duration," replied the count.
 It may develop into a long bitter struggle between Germany and England after France and Russia are exhausted. England can be expected to seek to dictate peace against which Germany will fight to the last ditch. In its efforts to crush Germany, England has called upon the yellow hordes of Asia and France upon Africa. Thereby, they have brought the future struggle for the mastery of the world much nearer.
 And, I believe that America will be the first to feel this. Anyhow Germany has at the present time no reason for depression."

JURY GOT DAMAGE SUIT THIS MORNING

No Verdict at Late Hour Today and Generally Expected to Resut in Disagreement.

WAS RESULT AT FIRST TRIAL

The damage suit of Samuel H.
 Murphy against the Terre Haute, Indianapolis and Eastern Traction company has been in the hands of the jury since nine-twenty o'clock this morning and at a late hour this afternoon there were no signs of a verdict being reached.

Because of the jury being out this long the general opinion around the court house was that a disagreement would be the result. This was the case in the first trial in Newcastle.
 The last of the final argument was made this morning and Judge Megee then instructed the jury. The court gave the jury thirty-eight instructions. The case has attracted unusual attention here for a venue suit and the case has been hard fought.
 It started Monday morning and would have even required longer had the defendant company introduced any evidence. Murphy demands $11,200.

SAYS WIFE RAN OFF WITH ANOTHER MAN

Ottis Crawford, I. & C. Motorman, Brings Suit Today, Naming Samuel Castor Co-respondent.

ARE NOW LIVING IN CHICAGO

Ottis Crawford, well known motorman on the I. & C. traction line, today filed suit for divorce from his wife Sarah Crawford. The complaint is sensational in that it alleges she left him to live with Samuel Castor. The complaint states that they were married on May 5, 1897 and separated on August 6, 1914. At this time Crawford asserts she left him and went to Indianapolis in company with Samuel Castor. It is alleged that they lived here for some time and are at present living as husband and wife in Chicago. This is the only thing alleged in the complaint.

Crawford states that his wife took with her their one-year-old son, Glen, and he demands the custody of their other four children. A. L. Gary represents the plaintiff.

—Perry Oneal and Russell Kirkpatrick, students at Indiana University in Bloomington, came this afternoon to spend the week end with relatives here.

Mrs. Marie Smullen is ill at her home in Raleigh.

ready outlined. More real good could be accomplished, it was believed, by making the study of the intent of the day a personal one than by a big display.

Miss Brown talked twenty minutes at the regular chapel hour in the high school this morning. She and Miss Helen Scott and Miss Henrietta Coleman had an excellent opportunity to observe conditions in European countries when they were abroad. Especially could they see the true state of affairs in some Italian cities where they were detained longer than expected because of the war.

Miss Brown said that nine-tenths of the value of the trip was to make her and her companions more satisfied at home. Miss Brown told of the insanitary conditions in the great European cities. She noted the almost total absence of screens, she said. Miss Brown referred to the terrible conditions in Naples and Venice where refuse is thrown in the streets and canals. She also spoke of the trip home when passage on the Italian steamer was almost unbearable to the Americans. It was very satisfactory, she said, to the Italians who came over on it. She said the United States was far ahead of Europe as regards sanitation.

Miss Minnie Hardin, who is attending normal school in Terre Haute underwent an operation for gall stone and appendicitis at the Union hospital there Tuesday. She is said to be recovering nicely and nothing serious is expected to develop. Mrs. William Hardin, her mother, was called there on account of the operation.

Why not now?

Not a War Tax.

The Democratic party is trying to fool the people into believing that the war in Europe is cause for an internal "war-in-time-of-peace" tax to raise $105,000,000 to make up for the fast decreasing revenues when the real cause is the operation of a new tariff law of the present Democratic tariff bill.

Many things will be subjected to a tax under the proposed "war-in-time-of-peace" revenue bill which will most undoubtedly be passed. The latest suggestion is that automobile owners in the United States be compelled to pay twenty-five cents a horse power and that manufacturers be compelled to pay a dollar a horse-power for every machine made. This suggestion has been incorporated into the bill by the finance sub-committee of the senate, and if made a law will have to pass the senate and be sent back to the house for its approval. This was put in the bill in place of the clause levying a tax of two cents a gallon on gasoline.

But why should the people of the United States have to pay $105,000,000 a year tax simply because Europe is at war? No one has answered that question satisfactorily. Of course, it must be apparent to every one that the war merely offers the Democratic party an excuse for levying a tax to recuperate the treasury on account of the dwindling revenues from import duties.

While the export trade of the United States fell off over seventy-seven million dollars in August, the first month of the war, the imports decreased less than eight million dollars. Of the decrease in export business in August, nearly twenty million dollars was with countries not involved in the European war. The imports last August were $129,767,890. The imports during the corresponding month of 1913 were $137,651,553. It must be noticed, too, that the new tariff law is so helpful to the United States that even in time of war it keeps a big lot of foreign made goods pouring into the United States while our export business shrinks an almost unbelievable amount.

But the strange part about it is that the loss in customs revenues did not begin when the war in Europe started.

In July, 1913, the customs receipts were $27,854,099.83, in July, 1914, they were $22,164,420.06. The decrease in revenues, it will be noticed, was more than five and a half million dollars,—or at the rate of more than sixty-six million dollars a year. War was not declared until July 30th. It will be noticed that entirely independent of the war the decrease in revenues under the new tariff law, basing the calculation on the July figures, would have been two-thirds of the amount provided by the "war" tax measure, and with free sugar, which is provided for at the later date, the decrease would be fully the amount the measure is expected to furnish.

AUTO GOES OVER AN EMBANKMENT

Ira Bullard of Milroy in Accident

Near Shelbyville While Trying to Pass Buggy.

"JINX" IS FOLLOWING HIM

Ira Bullard of Milroy, while driving in an automobile towards Shelbyville Thursday night, was forced down an embankment when the rig he was attempting to pass crowded him off the road. Mr. Bullard was not injured but the machine was badly damaged, the lights and wind shield being smashed. The accident occurred within a few miles of Shelbyville and he was compelled to walk to that city to get assistance in getting the machine out of the ditch.

Mr. Bullard was attempting to go around the rig and because of fresh gravel on the road, the machine was hard to control and went down the embankment. The parties in the buggy never even stopped to see if he was hurt. Mr. Bullard seems to be followed by a "jinx" of some kind when driving an auto. During the Milroy chautauqua he ran into a rig and sustained a painful injury.

FAD GROWING ALL OVER CITY

With the installing of a restaurant in the rear of one pool room, the craze has hit other pool rooms of the city and now practically every pool room in the city is equipped, or will be, with a lunch counter. John Conroy moved his restaurant to the rear of the Arcade pool room about a week ago and this started the ball rolling. Not to be outdone by one, other proprietors have taken up lunch business. Guy Newman has installed a lunch counter in the rear of the James Smith pool room in West Second street, and McAllister and Kratzer on the Subway will have a lunch room in operation in a few days. The latest craze may force the rest of the places to install lunch counters. One thing seems certain—the pool and billiard players of the city need not go hungry.

The funeral services of Lavina, age three months and sixteen days, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto McCready, who died Tuesday, were held Wednesday, with the Rev. A. D. Batchelor in charge. Burial was made in East Hill cemetery.

Health--How to Preserve It Disease--How to Prevent It

Prepared for the United Press by Dr. J. N. Hurty State Health Commissioner

(Dr. Hurty will answer questions on prevention of disease, hygiene and sanitation. Questions requiring a personal answer cannot be considered. To avoid delay, address all questions direct to the UNITED PRESS ASSOCIATIONS, 36 1/2 West Washington St., Indianapolis. Questions may be sent to THE DAILY REPUBLICAN if preferred.)

H. A. Vincennes, Writes:—"I read that doctors are disagreeing with Edison and Ford, who have condemned cigarettes. Is it true that cigarettes are a menace? I have that 15,812,000 persons smoke cigarettes in the United States and the statement said they were signing their own death warrants."

Reply—Cigarettes are a decided menace to the health of the people. It is proved beyond doubt that cigarette smoking stunts the mental and physical growth of boys. Nicotine, under the term—I include tobacco in all forms, is a poison and a drug. Tobacco using is a drug habit pure and simple. All drugs are injurious yet some are useful when used as medicines. If you will make some careful personal observance of cigarette smoking boys, you will find they are decidedly set back physically, mentally and morally.

Retired Farmer, Warsaw writes:—"If outdoor life and plenty of exercise is the thing, why is it that the average farmer of sixty is about done while the city man of that age is slick and spry?"

Reply—The average farmer should be the healthiest and strongest men in the country, yet he is not. He has plenty of air and sunshine in the summertime, but not in the winter time. When fall comes he lights his fire in his air tight stove, closes doors and windows, and from that time till spring arrives, the only fresh air he enjoys is that which finds entrance when doors are opened and closed for exit or entrance. A farmer's wife wrote me recently asking—"What can we women do to make our husbands and sons quit using tobacco and sleeping in their underclothing." There are few bath rooms in farmers houses. Typhoid fever is a rural disease, because their sewage is not disposed of in a sanitary way. If the farmer will ventilate his house thoroughly winter as well as summer, stop the use of patent medicines, tobacco and other drugs, will install a bath room and quit eating fried foods, he will be healthier, wealthier and happier.

L. Y. Seymour writes—"Everyone says, cultivate a regular habit and so avoid constipation. How can such a habit be cultivated?"

Reply—It is a simple matter to cultivate a regular habit. Simply do it. Constipated people have quite always cultivated an irregular habit. They have refused to go when nature called. In addition to cultivating a regular habit, eat laxative foods and avoid constipating foods. Avoid spices because they stimulate, irritate and constipate. Spices are drugs. Don't take drugs except under the advice of a good physician. Drink plenty of water, eat fruits and vegetables and cultivate a regular habit.

BIG NINE TEAMS GET IN ACTION

Season Should be Most Interesting Because of Large Number of International Games.

THISTLETHWAITE WRITES

Former Earlham Coach Believes Stronger Teams of Last Year Are Weak This Season.

(By United Press.)

Chicago, Oct. 2.—With football about to occupy the center of the stage—every conference team will be in action tomorrow—the United Press has obtained from Glen Thistlethwaite, coach of the championship Oak Park team, his forecast for the season. The opinions of this football expert who hails from Indiana, are backed by achievements. His team holds the championship of the middle west, winning all its games of last season. It bids fair to repeat this year, having defeated Ottawa High, itself a championship claimant, by the score of 57 to 0. Thistlethwaite hails from Sheridan, Ind.—a hotbed for football players. He received his baptism coaching Illinois college and Earlham college. The latter in his alma mater.

BY GLEN THISTLETHWAITE. (Written for United Press.)

The near approach of the 1914 football season heralds the most interesting year in the history of our great amateur game. More inter-sectional contests have been scheduled than ever before. A greater variation in the individual schedules has been made and in every case an effort also has been made to bring the best teams together, not only as a national affair but in each section and state as well.

Last season Harvard could claim nothing more than the Eastern championship even though she was represented by the most wonderful team in her history. For this season we find Michigan, who has always been a contender for the Western honors and Vanderbilt who has repeatedly won the championship of the South, on the Harvard schedule. Yale has followed Harvard's example and another contender for Western honors. Each of these three contests, schedule a contest with Notre Dame, all of which are to be played in the East will arouse more interest than any other game, with the possible exception of the Harvard-Yale game, because of the inter-sectional importance. Notre Dame has three other inter-sectional games on her schedule, meeting the Army, Carlisle and Syracuse.

In high school circles, the game corresponding to the Michigan-Yale contest will be played between Oak Park and Everett at Boston, allowing a comparison of the best teams of the east and west, that will, in its way, be as interesting as the game of the two more mature teams.

So much has been said in recent years about the difference in style between Western and Eastern football that the public has been anxious to have a concrete illustration so that the results of the meeting of the two may be seen. It has been generally supposed that western offense is superior to that of the east but the defense of the west falls far short of that which is developed in the eastern schools. Just what the varied attack of Notre Dame and Michigan will do to the supposed stone walls of Yale and Harvard is to be demonstrated. The simple but accurate offense of the east will go against the supposedly neglected defense of the western team. Every student of the game is awaiting the results.

Practically every western college squad started practice nearly two weeks ago while the ambitious candidates for the conference university teams had been going through preliminary training for a week or more prior to the opening of the regular practice season which started September 21.

From various camps come glowing now there are nine strong contenders reports of wonderful prospects. Just for the Western Conference or Big Nine championship. The elimination process will start Saturday and continue until the last game of the season.

On paper the stronger teams of last year look quite a little weaker at this date on account of the loss of stars by graduation. On the other hand the weaker elevens have material that will greatly strengthen their lineups.

The championship Chicago eleven has been broken up so badly that Stagg has a hard task before him if his team is to be in the race until the end. The same can be said of Minnesota, where not only graduation but failures in studies has made inroads on Coach Williams' squad.

Purdue, Wisconsin and Iowa ought to be fully as strong as last year where not more than the usual number of stars has been lost. Illinois is making no prediction but it is understood that Coach Zuppke has considerable more than enough monogram men for an eleven as well as his freshman and upper class recruits.

Northwestern and Indiana, the weak sisters of the last year's campaign, have changed coaches, both schools obtaining eastern men. This alone has aroused more interest in the student bodies of the two universities and with this renewed interest and the injunction of new systems of coaching, stronger material has reported and entered the work with renewed vigor.

The strengthening of the weaker teams with a possibility of the stronger teams being weaker than last year will produce a closely contested conference season and the prospects are that it will be the most interesting one for several years.

HAS OFFICE IN INDIANAPOLIS

E. C. Eikman, Democratic Nominee
For Joint Senator, Merely Lives in New Palestine.

DEFEATED HOWARD BARRETT

Hancock Circuit Court Docket Shows That he is Not Interested in Any Trials There.

From all indications the Democrats of the district composed of Rush, Fayette and Hancock counties have nominated a man for joint-senator who has little real interest in the district. The nominee is Edward C. Eikman of New Palestine, practically unheard of until the Connersville convention several months ago.

Eikman, it is true, resides in New Palestine, but is really an Indianapolis attorney with offices in the Hume-Mansur building. He is said to have no business interests in this district and is not generally known over the district. Eikman beat Howard Barrett, of this city for the nomination and now it seems as though the Democrats made a serious mistake because he is simply a resident of this district, with no interests at heart and no real purpose but simply to run for office.

His home is New Palestine, Hancock county, but he does not even practice law in his home county. The bar docket of the Hancock circuit court does not show a single case in which Eikman is connected. It is true he has a few estates to settle in that court but the bar docket for the September term does not even show his name as being an attorney.

His interests are in Indianapolis and New Palestine and this district is just a side line with him. His offices are at 1010 Hume-Mansur building and he can be found there any day rather than in Hancock circuit court. Eikman is not known in Rush county but it is presumed he will visit here in making a campaign for the office. Eikman will probably be called upon to explain how he expects to represent this district in the state senate when all his interests are in Indianapolis.

Eikman was nominated when the Fayette county delegation split their vote between Barrett and Eikman. It seems as though a previous agreement was made that the nominee should be given to Hancock county and thus Howard Barrett was beaten. But in beating Barrett the Democrats of the district did not take into consideration that they were nominating an Indianapolis attorney and not a man who could go before the voters and tell them that he was one of their number and had their interests at heart.

Eikman has been approached on this subject and always states that he is a resident of this district and is entitled to make the race. This is true but at the same time it is hard for many to see how an Indianapolis attorney could represent a senatorial district with no more interest than this would show he has in the district.

MANY TAKE PART IN OBSERVANCE

Disease Prevention Day is Celebrated in Many Ways all Over the State Today

IS EDUCATION FOR CHILDREN

Spectacular Parades, Banners and Health Slogans Tell of Importance of Prevention

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Oct. 2.—More than 2,000,000 Hoosier men, women and children are today celebrating what is probably the most unique holiday ever given the people of this state. By proclamation of Gov. Samuel M. Ralston all Indiana has for one day Ralston all Indiana has for this one day focused its attention in a new way on preventable diseases. Cities are decorated, factories are closed down, merchants have suspended business, and in scores of communities with populations running from 3,000 to 300,000 spectacular parades were to be a feature of the day's doings.

The day became one of education for school children on the subjects of preventable diseases. Hundreds of thousands of school children marched in parades carrying banners and pennants on which were phrases telling facts about health and disease. Hundreds of floats portrayed in some manner, important health truths. Church societies, chambers of Commerce, women's clubs, and other organization joined in today's celebration. State militia, including the hospital corps, took part. Merchants seized the opportunity to display health giving foods, healthful clothing, athletic goods, and utensils used in the general health propaganda.

The occasion is known as "Disease Prevention Day" and while this is the first time it has been observed, the intention is to make it an annual occasion, and to impress the principle for which the Fourth of July stands. The idea has been received with favor by educators and philanthropists throughout the United States. Governor Ralston received a letter from Nathan Strauss of New York in which he said: "I consider this one of the greatest ideas ever originated." He congratulated Indiana on the birth of an idea sure to spread throughout the nation.

The proposal to observe "Disease Prevention Day" came from Walter D. Thurber, executive secretary of the Indiana Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, who urged the governor to put the machinery of the state behind the proposition, following a successful "tryout" of the idea in Anderson, Ind.

TEAM PICKED FOR TENNIS CONTEST

Ralph Hackleman and William Sexton Will Represent High School
Here Saturday Afternoon.

CONNSVILLE WILL PLAY

Ralph Hackleman and William Sexton will form the tennis team which will uphold the honor of the Rushville high school when it clashes with the Connersville high school Saturday afternoon. The contest will be played at the Burres court in North Main street and will be for three out of five sets. Elimination trials have been held on the Gun and Country club courts each evening this week and Hackleman and Sexton have defeated all comers. They played the final sets giving them the right to represent the school this morning. Hackleman and Sexton play a good brand of tennis and should issue from the contest tomorrow afternoon victors. A good deal of interest has been aroused in the high school and there is likely to be a large crowd of rooters on hand. Only doubles will be played, no single matches having been arranged. The play will start at three o'clock, according to present arrangements. Earl Marlatt, a high school teacher, has been in charge of the elimination trials and coaching the players.

Their wonderful wear-resisting qualities and their remarkable elasticity make them the ideal undergarments for Children. Youngsters outgrow them before they outwear them, yet the elastic web yields so readily to every motion that little folks can romp and play all day long in perfect comfort and without the least danger of ripping or tearing the garment. Parents find them practical and economical.

Permit us to amplify by saying that economy depends not alone on what you pay but also, and more especially on what you get in return.

Where is the economy in paying 48c for an ill fitting, uncomfortable garment for your boy or girl, when for 50c you can have perfect fitting, durable, comfortable MUNSINGWEAR?

The woman who buys an ordinary undergarment for 89c or 93c and finds it wholly unsatisfactory is surely short sighted, when she might have soft, warm, elastic, perfect-fitting MUNSINGWEAR for $1.00

It is the object of this advertisement to make you think—to cause you to see that by putting price before quality is not economy.

WORKING TO END POLE NUISANCE

Electric Railway Association to Consider Joint Use of Them at Coming Convention.

WILL BE IN ATLANTIC CITY

Charles L. Henry, President of the I. & C., Will Attend-Method Reducing Number of Poles.

The report of the committee on the joint use of poles is one of the subjects which is to be considered at the coming convention of the American Electric Railway association to be held in Atlantic City, October 12th to 16th, and which will be attended by Charles L. Henry, president of the Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction Company.

The committee on the joint use of poles has now been working two years to perfect a form of agreement and a set of specifications covering the use of the same set of poles by electric companies in various lines. The committee is composed of representatives of the electric railways and lighting companies, of telephone and telegraph companies and of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. The committee will propose a method whereby the lines of these various companies, which of course, carry various degrees of voltage can, with safety to the linemen and to the public, be carried upon one pole line.

The adoption of the report will, it is believed, go a long way towards the removal from the streets of cities and villages of the numerous poles which at present are so unsightly.

While the various companies are in no way bound to follow the suggestions of the committee, the fact that some of the most eminent electrical engineers in the country, backed up by the powerful organizations of public utilities, have pointed out a safe way of combining the various lines on one pole line will, it is believed, lead to their general adoption by many companies throughout the country.

The report was considered at the last meeting of this Association, but was not at that time adopted, being sent back to the committee for certain corrections. It is hoped that it is now in such shape that it will meet with the approval of the utilities and will lead to a much needed reform.

The convention of the association is one of the most important of the year. Over 400 electric railway companies, representing more than 35,000 of the 45,000 miles of electric railways in the United States will be represented and an attendance of more than 4,000 is expected.

*****

London, Sept. 19. (Mail to New York)—The tribute of a soldier to Field Marshal Sir John French, commanding the British forces in the field is contained in a letter from Private G. Busby, received from the front.

"General French is very popular with his men," writes Busby. "There is no 'side-by' about him and when he passes along he's just as ready to smile on an ordinary Tommy as on the highest officer. He takes a keen interest in our life in the trenches, and we all feel that he's just the man to turn to in trouble, and there's not one of us wouldn't go through fire and water for him."

"He's not one of your showmen, but a hard fighter and worker from head to toe, and he expects every man under him to be the same. No matter how tired we may be we always turn out to give him a cheer when he passes through the lines as he does now and then. He stops when he has time to have a chat with us just for the sake of finding out just what we think about it all and whether we are being properly looked after."

HEARS FROM HIS OLD NEIGHBORS

P. J. Lynch Gets Letters From Friends in His Old Home in Penn. Concerning Candidacy.

WISHING HIM GODSPEED

A Communication From Good Quaker, George R. Chambers, of Harrisburg, is Typical of Them.

Newcastle, Ind., October 1.—A man's neighbors come very near knowing what manner of man he is. Their opportunities for observation are numerous and there is little chance that one can escape estimate, which generally can be depended upon to be true and just.

Just now P. J. Lynch of Newcastle, Republican candidate for congress from the sixth district, is receiving letters from his old home in Pennsylvania, wishing him godspeed in his present undertaking. Mr. Lynch was born and grew to man's estate in one of the old time Friends settlements in the Keystone state—in the country that received the impress of activities and character of William Penn. Those old neighbors know Lynch for his true worth and the letters he is receiving from them will be prized more highly than any temporal honors that may come his way.

The following letter from George R. Chambers of Harrisburg is typical of a number that Mr. Lynch has received from Pennsylvania Quakers who know that he is the kind of a man that is needed in congress. Mr. Chambers writes as follows:

My Dear Joseph:

There could scarcely imagine what a gratification it was to me to see by the papers that thee had received the nomination for Congress. No better man could have been nominated and have no doubt of thy election, and only wish I could cast my vote for thee.

Thy Friend,

NEGOTIATION FOR NEW TREATY

(By United Press.)

Washington, Oct. 2.—Abrogation by Turkey of ancient capitulations in favor of foreigners giving them special privileges, went into effect today as far as any official word received here was concerned, despite protests of the United States and most European powers.

Secretary of State Bryan planned to open diplomatic representations soon to follow up this government's protest. Negotiation of a new treaty defining rights and privileges of Americans, and particularly missions and missionaries, is thought probable in diplomatic circles.

Bryan has received assurances that Turkey will guarantee full protection to foreigners despite abrogation today of the old treaties.

Kaizer Will Lose His Garter But He Can Buy Hose Supporters In Berlin

London, Sept. 19. (by mail to New York)—The Kaiser will lose his garter. Such is the awful semi-official announcement made here today.

The German war lord may be able to purchase hose-supporters in Berlin, but English public opinion will not permit him to retain the dainty jeweled ribbon bestowed upon him by Queen Victoria and which carried with it membership in the oldest and most exclusive order of chivalry in the world—The Most Noble Order of the Garter.

There is no doubt that the matter of removing the banners of the Kaiser and the crown prince from the Garter Chapel in Windsor Castle is being carefully considered by officials. There is no precedent, however, for expelling a foreign monarch. High treason is the only crime that can justify expulsion, and the leading authorities agree that it may be difficult to try one monarch for treason to another. The last member of the order to be ignominiously expelled was John Duke of Ormond, a Jacobite nobleman, who saved his neck by fleeing the country.

Those who insist that the black agled banners in the Garter Chapel must be torn down as unworthy of a place among the historic emblems hanging over the knight's pews contend that the Germans' action at Louvain, Termonde, Dinant and elsewhere, give ample grounds for expulsion. They declare the Kaiser is surely guilty of treason to the lofty ideals of chivalry on which the order is based. They insist that the noblest blood of England, to say nothing of other European monarchs who are members of the order cannot continue to regard as a "brother, lover and fellow"—according to the rules of the order—a ruler with whom they are at war, and who they hold, has broken the laws of knight-hood.

Prince Henry of Prussia and the young duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha will almost certainly share the Kaiser's fate. Neither can Emperor Franz Josef well be allowed to keep his garter.

But for the fact that he might be regarded as an innocent tool, the Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha would have short shrift. Garter-king-at-arms takes a very grave view of his case for in addition to being a reigning German prince, he is a "prince of Great Britain and Ireland."

Including King George, the czar and the Kaiser, the order of the Garter numbers twelve emperors and kings and fourteen princes, while the other "knights companion," include eleven British dukes, six marquises, nine earls and one baronet (Sir Edward Grey).

Almost as strong as the demand for the expulsion of the Kaiser is the public desire for the bestowal of a garter upon King Albert of Belgium. The kings of the Belgians is certain of a garter sooner or later, but the demand now is for an immediate bestowal, following the gallant defense of his nation against the Germans.

In the meantime, in the Garter chapel at Windsor, the clergy of the order daily recites a prayer for the knights who are fighting. The prescribed prayer is: "God save our Gracious Sovereign and all the companions of the Most Noble and Honorable Order of The Garter."

Former Schoolmaster Crawls 500 Yds. On Battlefield To Aid Comrade

(By United Press.)

London, Sept. 19. (By Mail to New York)—How a former school-master now in the British army crawled 500 yards across a battlefield to bring aid for wounded comrades, though he had himself been struck by a shell, is told in a letter which has been received by Rev. W. Johnson, of York. A comrade accompanied him on his slow painful journey and they were seven hours crawling the 500 yards.

The writer, Bernard Duchene, was a French master at Archbishop Holgate's school. Telling of his experiences, he said:

"On the morning of September 6, the general issued orders that we were to stand our ground at all costs. We did it, but at what costs! I was going to charge a village when a shell fell behind me, burst and hit me in several places—three times on the head, twice on the right leg at the ankle and thigh, and once on the left leg at the ankle. I was left on the battlefield and crawled to a hut and there I found nine others.

"We were exposed to a terrible fire from the artillery and expected the hut to be low to pieces at any time. Toward the end of the second day we decided that two of us should volunteer to fetch some help, so I did, and another followed.

"We were exactly between the French and German lines, so we started crawling on all fours. We had no sooner appeared at the door than—as it was a moonlight night—the gunners saw us. How we escaped I don't know. We just managed to turn the corner, and were safe, but it took us seven hours to crawl 500 yards. When we reached the ambulance in the French lines, I told the cure what I had done, and where my comrades were and had the supreme reward of hearing him say above the buzz: 'You have done very well, my child.' I felt him kiss me on the forehead and fainted away. Three hours later, when I regained consciousness, I had the pleasure of knowing that my comrades had been saved."

Amusements

Mrs. Fiske and her company of players, under the direction of Harrison Grey Fiske, will perform a new play of a humorous character, entitled "Lady Betty Martindale," or "The Adventures of a Lively Hussy," at English's Opera House, Indianapolis, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, October 5, 6 and 7, with matinee Wednesday. The comedy is unlike Mrs. Fiske's recent offerings to the public, inasmuch as it is what is called in the theatre a "costume play," and furthermore it is purely a high comedy, which boasts no wider nor deeper purpose than that of entertainment. Although Mrs. Fiske has devoted herself largely to dramatic works of a more serious intent, many of the greatest triumphs have been made in comedy. Indeed, not a few of her most scholarly critics have declared upon numerous occasions that the distinguished actress exhibits the highest phase of her genius when performing in plays of the lighter vein.

Opening, Thursday, October 8th., and continuing through Wednesday, October 14th, English's Opera House will offer the picture sensation "Cabiria." Of this picture the Chicago Daily Tribune says: "The picture qualities of this photo drama are remarkably fine. There is clearness, detail and smoothness to such a degree that one almost forgets a moving representation rather than the actual object is being observed. * * * Cabiria, is full of conflict and escape from conflict, giving a vivid impression of the rather violent manner of living of that strenuous day. There is more story to it than to most feature films, providing many opportunities for deeds of men, which share in distinction with the spectacular scenes staged by nature. The daring things linger in the memory rather more persistently than the story of the little girl who gives her name to the film and does not do such a great deal else. * * * Splendid scenic displays contribute to its complete effectiveness, the sand covered desert, the snow crowned Alps, the surging sea, the fires of the erupting volcano and of the Roman fleet ignited by Archimedes device for calling flame from the sun with his mirrors, are wonderfully and attractively pictured and called from the audience appreciative expressions.

MONTE CARLO IS NOW DESERTED

Play Ground of Europe, Great Gambling Rendezvous, is Under Blight of Great War

OFFICIALS HELD AS SPIES

Casino Closed Owing "to Events" is Announcement on Piacard. Prince Helps France

(By United Press.)

Paris, Oct. 2.—Monte Carlo in wartime! The playground of Europe and the world's gambling rendezvous is desolate. The one place where all ways was to be found wild dissipation, and bustling and hustling today is under blight of the greatest war in history. The following story was sent to a local newspaper by a special representative who was assigned to picture the little principality in war time.

I was astonished at the scene on the top of the hill. For sheer, forlorn desolation I have beheld nothing to compare with Monte Carlo in time of war. This buzzing hive, this centre of wild dissipation, this hackneyed scene of melodrama had acquired all the silence and gloom of Pompeii.

Outside the Casino I was informed by a placard on the closed shutters that, owing to "the events" the building would not be opened till further notice; the reading room was transferred to the Cafe de Paris; deposits could be recovered at the Bank in the Galeria Charles III.

In the big square there were twelve wax figures arrayed on the benches. I am sure they were wax figures, for they never spoke or moved; they waited and waited—for nothing. A big blackboard waited for war bulletins and telegrams that never came.

There was lunch at a little coffee-house in the Condamine by the harbour. Here I was seized at once by a nervous atmosphere of the Principality. At the next table was a lady who spoke with what seemed a violent German accent. I watched her suspiciously, for at Nice German-baiting is the great sport of the hour.

The soberest citizens rush suddenly amuck and collect crowds to chase and belabour a man who has the wrong hat or the wrong cut of beard. And at Nice we mistrust Monaco.

We know that the Prince has sent 2,000 pounds to the Perfect of the Seine for the families of French soldiers; we have read his Highness' stirring speech to a regiment at Beausoleil; we have seen the red proclamations on Monte Carlo walls ordering off the enemy's subjects "for reasons of public order." But we know he is a friend of the Kaiser, a cousin of the Chief of the German Staff. We suspect him of tolerating spies. We murmur of annexation.

So I watched my neighbor, and I saw she resented it. The proprietor addressed her sympathetically as Madame la Comtesse. But that did not soothe her.

Between the courses she threw up her hands and screamed that such things were unheard of. "What things?" I ventured to inquire.

Why, this infamous atmosphere of suspicion. (My suspicion, perhaps?) For days she had been pushed about at police stations, had haunted the ante-chambers of Consulated, clamoured for papers that we always deferred. How was she to get out of this accursed country without a permit?

Some people make their own troubles, and I pointed out to her that she had only to enter a train and proceed to Italy. No one need worry about papers down here just now, least of all a worthy Dutchwoman who only desired to depart.

All the same, Monaco is certainly suffering from a reaction against Germans. At first their expulsion was the merest sham. Then the Prince proposed to provide them with a special ship to take them away to Italy.

"Ah!" said Nice, "then you admit you have been sheltering them; and now you want to send them away in luxury, with all the fruits of their espionage."

One result is that high officials of the Casino are now in Nice prisons waiting to be tried as spies. An Italian paper said one of them had been shot, but this is contradicted.

UNITED STATES HAS EYE ON PLAGUES

Public Health Service Will Attempt to Prevent Their Spread Into This Country

NONE FOUND IN ARMIES YET

(By United Press.)

Washington, Oct. 2.—The watchful eye of the United States public health service is upon Italy, Turkey and some of the Balkan states where bubonic plague and cholera appear to be spreading. Latest reports from American consuls, it was stated by a public health official today revealed the appearance of ten more cases of plague in Catania, Sicily.

To date the public health service has not been officially advised of any disease among the vast armies now fighting. It was stated positively from German, French and British troops are in no danger, while Russian and Austrian troops might be subject to cholera at any time.

So far the service has taken no special precaution to prevent the bringing of the plagues to the United States but health officers at the large ports are watching all vessels from Italy and Asia.

Rushville Citizens Testify For the Public Benefit.

A truthful statement of a Rushville citizen, given in his own words, should convince the most skeptical about the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills: If you suffer from backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, urinary disorders or any form of kidney ills, use a tested kidney medicine.

New Treatment for Bronchitis Asthma, Catarrh and Head Colds

Vick's Vap-O-Rub Croup and Pneumonia Salve Relieves by Inhalation and Absorption. No Dosing.

When Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Croup and Pneumonia Salve is applied externally, the body warmth releases vapors of Pine Tar, Camphor, Thymol, Menthol, and Eucalyptol. These vapors are inhaled direct to the lungs and air passages where internal medicines can not go. They loosen the phlegm, open the air passages and stimulate the mucous membrane to throw off the disease germs. For catarrh and head colds melt a little in a spoon and inhale the vapors, also apply well up the nostrils. For asthma and hay fever follow the instructions given above and also rub Vick's well over the spinal column, thus relaxing the nervous tension. Vick's is not a "cure" for these diseases, but it has at least the merit of containing no harmful habit-forming drugs, and it is sold by all druggists on thirty days' trial. If it fails to relieve in your case, the purchase price will be immediately refunded.

For sore throat, tonsillitis, deep colds, and bronchial troubles, apply hot wet towels over the chest and throat to open the pores of the skin. Then rub Vick's well in and cover with a warm flannel cloth. The next morning the phlegm is loosened, head is clear, and, in addition, the absorption of Vick's through the skin has taken out that tightness and soreness. Three sizes—from 25c. up.

estimate both of the virtues and of the prospects of the allies.

Now I hold no grief for Germany; on the contrary, her unprovoked invasion of Belgium, the destruction of Louvain and the magnificent cathedral at Rheims fill me with horror and indignation. Yet I believe that many of us, in common with the English and French are inclined to throw upon her the entire blame for this war and for the conditions which caused it including many things for which she is not justly responsible.

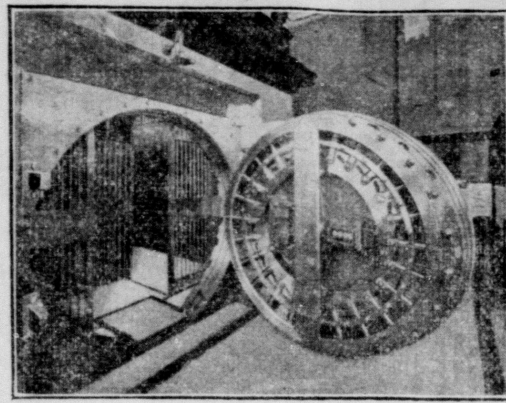

For instance, nearly everybody is denouncing what they call "Prussian militarism" which is held accountable for the war spirit in estimating her culpability in this respect we must first consider the causes which led to Prussian militarism.

In the first place, what is the geographical situation of Germany? She lies in central Europe between two implacable enemies. Russia on the east and France on the west with a long frontier on each side, an open country exposed to immediate attack in case of war. The cause of this enmity is largely racial. It is the prejudice of the Latin and Slav against the Teuton and of the Teuton against the Latin and Slav. Probably one side is no more responsible for this than the other. It is inherent in our defective human nature. In addition to this, France wants to recover Alsace and Lorraine, taken from her by Germany in 1870. Now Germany did not begin the war of 1870, that was the fault of France and if France was conquered and had to give up these provinces the responsibility for the bitter feeling occasioned by this act cannot be wholly laid to the door of Germany.

Germany with an enemy on each side needed an ally and her neighbor, Austria, whose population was in part of German stock, was willing to join her for mutual support, and Italy, although a country inhabited by people of Latin origin considered her rights so seriously threatened by France that she too became a rather un-natural member of the Triple Alliance, each member of which undertook to guarantee the others from simultaneous attack of any two European powers.

But against such alliance France needed an ally too, particularly in view of the fact that the population of Germany, was increasing each year by natural multiplication much more rapidly than her own. Her interests and those of Russia were identical and they accordingly formed an alliance for mutual support and England, whose industries, whose commercial supremacy and whose navy began to be threatened by the industries, the merchant marine and the navy of Germany, cultivated the friendliest relations with France and Russia, although her interests in the far east were quite opposed to those of the empire of the Czar. It is hard to see that in these alliances or "understandings" that one side was much more to blame than the other and the fact that Germany was armed to the teeth just as France and Russia were also armed followed necessarily from these geographical and political conditions. England would have been compelled to do the same thing if she had been in the centre of Europe exposed to hostile attacks on both sides. Even America would be forced to a similar course if we had no ocean to protect us and were confronted with enemies both on the east and west. If Germany had not armed very thoroughly she would have fallen long before this. She can no more be blamed than France can be blamed for arming to protect herself from a German invasion. This thing looks to me as if it were a part of the grist of the mills of the gods, part of the decree of fate. It is easy enough for England and for us in America to say 'You should cultivate friendly relations and leave your quarrels to the Hague Tribunal' but we ourselves have dared to remain unarmed if French 'revenge' were threatening us on one side and the Russian bear on the other. Germany cannot be blamed for her military system. It was necessary for her national life.

Now what did this military system mean? It meant preparation for instant war. The preparation of Germany was more complete than that of France and far more complete than that of Russia, although the Russian army was much the largest of all. It was so complete that within a week nearly five million troops
